Utilize Your Elves More Efficiently

Automation allows you to redeploy labor where it is needed most

Toyota automated guided vehicles (AGVs) load and carry your products from one area of your operation to another without the need for people to manage the process. The AGVs can follow a predetermined route, learn your facility, avoid obstacles, and react to changes in the environment, which frees up your labor and helps avoid accidents and damage to products.

Store more product and make it easier to retrieve with these pallet flow racking systems. They use gravity roller tracks to move pallets effortlessly from the feed side to the pickup side, so you can increase your storage capacity without moving products often.
