Speed Up Order Picking and Avoid Accidents

When you use JOEY lifts instead of ladders

JOEY task support vehicles from Big Joe provide a more stable and efficient alternative to ladders, and they are also OSHA compliant.

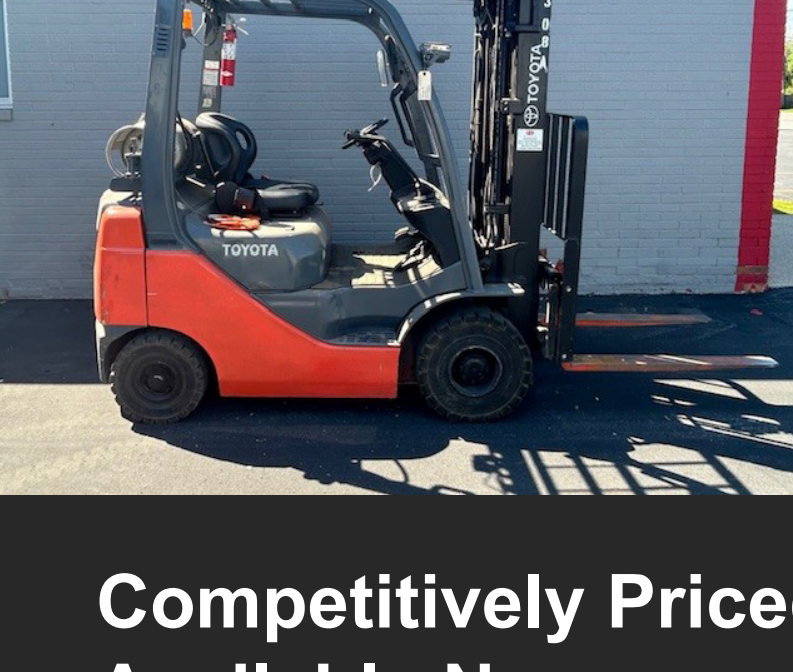

Simplify your tasks – They make it easy to handle picking orders, stocking shelves, managing inventory, and more.

Increase employee mobility – OSHA 29 CFR 1910.23(b)(12) requires 3 points of contact on a rolling ladder. Order pickers are not subject to this requirement, freeing up both hands.

Take on a wide range of jobs – JOEY vehicles can lift loads weighing 750 lb to 2,200 lb to heights of 48" to 210". Plus, they can travel quickly at 4.5 MPH to 7 MPH.

Best Practices

Want to Make Your Operation More Productive?

Add an order picker to your fleet

Order pickers streamline your warehouse and increase throughput. Here are some of their most common uses:

- Stocking shelves—With operators elevated on the machine, they can quickly and easily place products where they need to be.
- Picking products for fulfillment—Order pickers allow workers to grab single items to fill customer orders without removing an entire pallet.
- Organizing items in storage—Order pickers are highly maneuverable, making it simpler to organize inventory by hand.
- Unloading products from storage—These machines are typically able to navigate narrow aisles, making it possible to load and unload goods in confined areas.
